NTAA/EPA Webinar Series: National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS)

The National Tribal Air Association (NTAA) and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) are co-hosting a three-part webinar series on the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for tribal air agencies.

Under the Clean Air Act (CAA), the EPA is required to set national air quality standards (NAAQS) and review those standards every five years for six common air pollutants (also known as “criteria” air pollutants). There are NAAQS for ground-level ozone (O₃); particulate matter (PM); carbon monoxide (CO), lead (Pb), sulfur dioxide (SO₂), and nitrogen dioxide (NO₂).

These criteria air pollutants are found all across the United States and can harm your health, the environment, and cause property damage.

In this webinar series, you will learn how the EPA: 1) sets, reviews and revises the primary (health) and secondary (environmental) standards; 2) designate areas that are meeting or not meeting these standards; and 3) works with areas to meet and maintain these standards. You will also hear from tribal environmental professionals on their perspectives and experiences with the NAAQS regulatory, designations, and implementation process.

During each 1 ½ hour webinar, there will be an overview presentation of the topic followed by a question and answer session.

Webinar #3: NAAQS - Implementation

(This session will discuss how to attain & maintain the NAAQS and what role the tribes can play in the implementation process.)

Date: Monday, March 20, 2017

Time: 2:00 – 3:30 PM EST

Participant Dial-in Number: (800) 309-5450

Conference ID: 43783074

Indoor Air Quality

U.S. EPA is coordinating a workshop on residential wood heating (RWH) issues and strategies in Atlanta, GA on Feb. 28 – March 3, 2017.

This workshop will be held in conjunction with the Hearth, Patio and Barbeque Association Trade Show and is being coordinated by EPA and NESCAUM. We anticipate participation by state, local, tribal, federal and non-profit organization colleagues, who will present and discuss wood heating/combustion program issues, opportunities, challenges and lessons learned. A draft agenda is attached to this email.

Workshop participants will also have the opportunity to see firsthand various hearth technologies, many of them burning wood, wood pellets and gas and meet with industry representatives. The meeting is being held in Atlanta, GA, in conjunction with the Hearth, Patio and Barbeque Association Trade Show. Below is logistics information and a draft meeting agenda. You can register for this event at: <http://atlantameeting.eventzilla.net>

EPA is looking for volunteers to present information on their wood smoke reduction efforts at this workshop. If you would like to present, please contact Larry Brockman (brockman.larry@epa.gov) or Lisa Rector (lrector@nescaum.org). Also if you have suggestions for agenda items, please let us know. FYI, space is limited and will be filled on a first come, first serve basis. Who should attend?

The meeting is intended for state, local, tribal, federal and non-profit organization personnel who are interested in learning about and discussing residential wood combustion program issues, opportunities, challenges and lessons learned. In addition, workshop participants will have the opportunity to see firsthand various advanced hearth technologies, many of them burning wood, wood pellets and gas. How do I register?

Registration occurs at <http://atlantameeting.eventzilla.net>, there is no cost to register. You are welcome to attend all or some of the sessions. DO NOT register through the Hearth, Patio and Barbecue Association's EXPO website. However, we would encourage you to check out the website to provide background on the EXPO: <http://hpbexpo.com/>

Where should I stay?

There is a block of rooms reserved at the Residence Inn Downtown Atlanta (134 Peachtree Street NW) at the federal government rate of $148/night until Wednesday, February 15. Click here to book your group rate under "FGE EPA". If you have any troubles booking a room, contact Amanda Britt with the Residence Inn at 404-522-0950.

EPA offers free IAQ Tools for Schools resources—including the School IAQ Assessment Mobile App—to help schools maintain a healthy indoor environment by identifying, correcting and preventing IAQ problems. Learn more about the IAQ Tools for Schools guidance and access other valuable school environmental health resources at www.epa.gov/iaq-schools.

If you have any questions about the IAQ Tools for Schools guidance, please contact the IAQ Tools for Schools Connector Coordinator at iaqschools@epa.gov.

Roots of Wisdom: Native Knowledge. Shared Science.

Over countless years living on the same land, Native peoples have observed and managed their local environments. Today, Native communities around the world face many challenges to their ecosystems and their health, but they have found innovative solutions through combining traditional knowledge, passed down through generations, with modern science to meet these challenges. Roots of Wisdom: Native Knowledge. Shared Science, a traveling banner exhibition developed by the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry (OMSI), features inspiring stories of ecological restoration from four Indigenous communities: Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Tulalip Tribes, Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and the Waikalua Loko Fishpond Preservation Society in Hawaii.

As Native people restore their environments, they are revitalizing their cultural traditions and heritage - and offering answers to other communities. The exhibition was developed, produced, and circulated by: Oregon Museum of Science and Industry, Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service and Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian. DOE SunShot Initiative Launches Challenge to Expand Solar Access to More Communities, Including Tribes

In an effort to make solar energy more accessible for every American, the DOE SunShot Initiative has launched the $5 million Solar in Your Community Challenge, a new prize competition that aims to improve solar electricity access for low- and moderate-income households; state, local, and tribal governments; and nonprofit organizations.

The Solar in Your Community Challenge encourages the development of innovative financial and business models that serve low- and moderate-income communities that may have been left out of the solar boom. Offering $5 million in cash prizes and technical assistance over 18 months, the challenge supports teams across the country to develop projects or programs that reach underserved customers in their communities, while proving that these business models can be widely replicated and scaled up.

The early application deadline to participate in the challenge is Jan. 6, 2017, and the regular deadline is March 17, 2017. Learn more about how tribes and other communities can participate in the competition and apply today.

U.S. HUD - HUD recipients can request technical assistance on basically any subject, as long as is it related to NAHASDA. The requests come in to the ONAP Area Office, which typically considers whether the tribe has any other TA needs, and then assembles a TA request package for HQ to consider. From what I have been able to gather, training on indoor air issues has never been requested - but it could be. ONAP has contracts with certain TA providers for these TA requests. Those TA providers may subcontract as needed. The link below names the TA providers and discusses the process. A link to the ONAP CodeTalk website is provided below in case you are interested in getting a better feel for ONAP's Area Office structure. TA process:
